The Bee's Expose. The BEE's article of Thursday night reproducing the confessions of a crook, caused a profound sensation, both in police and business circles. Yesterday it shared with Patti the honor of being the principal theme of conversations on the street corners.

The police authorities informed a BEE reporter yesterday that the article was itself correct, so far as it went, and would, no doubt, have a salutary effect in showing the crooks who are still working the city that they are no longer in the dark. "In fact," remarked one of the force, "as the BEE stated Thursday night, "we have been 'onto' these fellows all along, but have not been able to do anything more than arrest them on a charge of vagrancy. It is one thing to know that these men have been doing all this crooked work and quite another thing to prove it. Still I think we have got the gang pretty well broken up. We shall keep on arresting them for va-grancy, and as fast as their terms expire, re-arrest them. In this way we can keep them pretty well in check. That gang that you exposed in your paper last night was without question the HARDEST LOT OF CROOKS that ever infested Omaha, or any other city for that matter. As your "contrite crook" said, it contained some of the most noted burglars and 'box-men'—safe-blowers—in the country. The only wonder is that they did not accomplish more than they did."

Officers Ormsby and Mostyn, who have done some shrewd work in trailing this gang, and have done not a little in keeping them in check, Thursday night made a raid on the headquarters of the outfit, at Hortz' place, 208 South Tenth street. They found that the remaining men of the gang after reading the article in last night's paper had quietly packed up their things and left—going no one knows whither. There was absolutely nothing to be seen of them. Patsy Kelley, alias "Curley the Tough" is now in the county jail with several others of in the county jail with several others of his subordinates in crime. His fellow ringleaders have quietly "slid out" and it is probable that in a very short time this notorious band of robbers will be com-pletely broken up. That such may be the case every good citizen will devoutly hope and year hope and pray.

AN INTESESTING SEQUEL. "I can give you an interesting sequel to the very spicy and readable exposure which you published in last night's pa-per," said Police Judge Stenberg to a re-porter yesterday afternoon. "Let me give you a bit of unwritten history. Did you know that a plot was formed to blow the safe in the police court?"

"It is a fact. The details were these This gang, when at the height of its depradations, conceived the idea of blowing the safe in my room, in which I keep the money collected for fines. There is occasionally as much as $200 or $300 in this safe—enough to pay for the trouble BLOWING THE SAFE. The ringleaders skirmished around and got the 'lay of the land' pretty carefully so that they knew just exactly how to do the work. The plan was to extinguish the light, which I have ordered kept burning in the police court room all night, pull down the curtains, and then under cover of darkness, do their work as rapidly as possible."

'How did the scheme fall through?" "In this way, The men who were to do this work were Murray, Car-roll, Kelley, Scotty, alias Scotty to do this work were Murray, Carroll, Kelley, Scotty, alias 'Scotty
the Tough' and a man named James Allen. About the time that the job was to 'come off' the last named man, Allen, was 'run in' for vagrancy. While he was locked up in the county jail, one of his pals made love to a young girl named Bertie Allen, whom Allen had brought from Council Bluffs and by whose charms he was badly smitten. This angered Allen greatly and he sent for the police authorities. He then revealed the plot to blow the police court safe. He police authorities. He then revealed the plot to blow the police court safe. He promised to give further important information, provided he was released. He was let out of jail, and did give the police some valuable information. He promised to entice his fellow criminals into carrying out the scheme and blowing the safe in order that the police might CATCH THEM IN THE ACT and arrest them. I refused to allow this, however, as I didn't believe that any jury would convict men who had been entrapped in that way."

"What became of Allen?" "His pals soon discovered that Allen had beached on them and they were very wrathy. Allen won back the affections of his girl Bertie and soon after-wards left town. He has not been heard DANGEROUS TO BE SAFE. A Lawyer's Little Adventure With a Cigar Box.

A prominent lawyer was met yesterday morning by a BEE reporter and in addition to the usual inquiry for news, weather and the Patti concert, a question was prompted as the gentleman's moody appearance. In reply to the latter he

"I have had the strangest experience of my life to-day."

"What! Haven't had a case, a call into court or a book-agent's visit?" "Oh no! But I came very near being arrested."

"Sure?"
"Honest."

"Well, I'll tell you. I bought a box of cigars, and, like all 'leaves' of autumn, they disappeared very rapidly. Finally they disappeared very rapidly. Finally the box was like some of my fellow-practitioners' heads—empty. Having promised my little daughter a box for newspaper scraps, I was taking it home. What do you think? As I came out of my office I met a friend, and the box under my arm became naturally a subject of conversation, as it was 'Havana' branded, and a 'vacancy.' Then my friend referred to my long practice at the bar, etc., and said: 'I've a good mind to arrest you. For what I replied, 'Because the United States stamp is uncancelled.' Then I recollected the law. I had in my possession an empty cigar box with revenue stamp uncancelled and of course I was amenable. It just goes to show one amenable. It just goes to show one thing that a liquor dealer or cigar maker has to be pretty well posted on the reve-nue laws or he can be scooped in by any of the United States marshals. I have to give advice on these subjects every day, still you see I came very near being eaught."

Well, what did you do?" "Why, I simply borrowed a penknife and scratched off that stamp. I verily believe I could catch fifty people in Omaha to-day who have cigar boxes in their houses and offices eigar boxes in their nouses and onless with the stamps uncancelled, and still bey would be innocent of committing any crime, and yet the law would have them. The revenue business is a delicate thing to deal with."

"Well, why do you feel bad about it?"
"Oh, I don't feel very bad, but the man who called my attention to the box was a client of mine, and the probabilities are that when he sees I 'violated' the law myself he will think that I am not a very safe adviser.'

BAY'S RESIGNATION. It is Called for by Union Pacific Officials-Rail Notes. It leaked out yesterday that John P. Bay, who for ten years or more has been connected with the Union Pacific, is to step down and out of his position of general foreman of the Union Pacific shops, His resignation has been called for by the officials and his tenure of office will cease on March 1.

The cause of this change is well known, at least among the men at the shops. Bay for some months past has been growing unpopular among the men under him, who claim that he has discharged men who have long been in the service of the Union Pacific for trivial and in many cases unwarranted reasons. This feeling against Bay has so often been brought to the attention of the officials that they were at length forced to take cognizance of it. Bay will probably be succeeded by the Standayon an old workman in the of it. Bay will probably be succeeded by Joe Standeven, an old workman in the shops, who, however, resigned some time ago on account of trouble between himself and Bay. His succession, however, has not yet been officially announced.
One of the workmen said yesterday
"This matter was brought prominently to the notice of the Union Pacific officials this week, through some trouble which

He had applied for a certain outside position and had actually been appointed to it, when Bay, by writing a letter to one of the directors, giving Firth a bad character as a workman, broke up the arrangement. This made Firth angry, and he went down to the shops, called Bay out and pounded him thoroughly. The general foreman did not make any resistance, and when Firth got through with him he was pretty badly used up. This matter came to the ears of the head officers and probably hastened the request for Bay's resignation."

Stray Leaves From a Reporter's Note

Book. "In my humble opinion," remarked : prominent lawyer yesterday morning, the unfortunate killing of John Richard son was the indirect outcome of several yerdicts which have lately been given in our courts. When the assailants of Officer Bloom on Tenth street, which was an outrage uncalled for in every way, are acquitted and the attempted killing of Officer Haze by a desperado is allowed to pass by unpunished the standing of the best peliceman is lowered and the officer becomes a plaything in the eyes of the mob. Of course I believe Richardson did not belong to any gang or tough ele-ment but the enjoyment of a little Satur-day night's fun brought an innocent man to death. Had the Tenth street crowd in the first mentioned cases been promptly and properly punished more respect would have been paid to a police-man's authority and Officer White's or ders on Saturday night, whether just or unjust, would have been obeyed and no trouble between the parties have occurred. The innocent always have to suffer, it seems in this world. The shooting of the man who attempted to kill Officer Haze would have caused very little excitement, I think. He deliberately attempted to kill and boasted after arrest that he would some future day carry out his plan. Still, several well-aimed bul-lets failed to strike him, while in the other case what I think was a chance shot, struck a popular young man, who had committed no crime."

Tom Woods, a young Englishman, was brought before Judge Stenberg yesterday, to answer to a charge of vagrancy. He had been caught begging on the streets for money to buy a meal with, and was found guilty, being committed for thirty days.

Britons now roaming through the western wilds of America, has a history. He was born at Bristol, England, where his folks were respected and well-to-do. He was placed in school (his parents desiring to give him a good education) but he did not fancy that sort of thing and ran away to sea. He shipped to sea on board a Dutch merchant vessel at Portsmonth, starting as a stowaway. When the vessel was far away at sea, he came up on deck. Of course he was roundly abused at light but the starting as a stowaway. first, but was put to work before the mast and told to make himself useful. During the entire voyage he was kicked and cuffed about by the Dutch sailors. He did not care to live this sort of a life, and after a cruse of the Baltie sea, he disembarked on English soil. then came to America, where he has been "knocking about" for four or five years doing different work. Some months he spent at the Rugby colony in Tennessee, which was founded by Tom Hughes, author of Tom Brown at Rugby. He was disgusted with the "dude plan"—as he called it—on which that institution was conducted and left. Some months ago his sister in Bristol sent him $250 with which to come home, but he spent it in riotous living. He has just come here from Denver where he was mixed up in a shooting scrape and had his wrist injured, so that sore on my cheek, and the doctors pronounced it cancer. I have tried a number of physicians but without receiving any permanent benefit. Among the number were one or two specialists. The medicine they applied was like fire to the sore, causing intense pain. I saw a statemen in the papers telling what S. S. S. had done for others similarly afflicted. I procured some at once. Before I had used the second bottle the neighbors could notice that my cancer was healing up. My general health had been had for two or three years-I had a hacking cough and spit blood continually. I had a sever pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grew stouter than I had been for several years. My cancer has healed over all but a little spot about the size of a half dime, and it is rapidly disappearing. I would advise every one-with cancer to give S. S. S. a fair trial.
